

I feel very strongly that lpfm stations should not take priority over fm translator service. Many national and regional radio stations serve my area, including klove. This Christian music is central to much of our community life. It helps me personally by encouraging me to have a better attitude, drive more carefully, be more kind to the people around me etc. I think that the replacement of these stations by lpfm stations would be highly detrimental to our community. Local stations do not fill the cultural gaps that would be left. Our community would have much less diverse radio programming. These FM stations are clearly in the public interest. Thank you,
